SATURDAY SCHEDULE

MUSEUM (Vernon Lamar)

Filmmaker Colin Foord

10:15, 11:15, 12:00, 1:00, 3:30 and 5:30

Be mesmerized and relaxed by the fluorescent beauty of the coral reef in high-definition 4K as marine biologist and filmmaker Colin Foord describes the goals of the unique science-hybrid endeavor he co-founded. Talk begins before 12:00 screening. (GROUP TRAVEL)

Tesla Coil Quartet

10:30, 11:30, 12:30, 2:30 and 4:30

A quartet of mini musical Tesla coils will delight audiences by playing music using 3-foot bolts of artificial lightning. (GROUP TRAVEL)

Backyard and street trees bring so much value to our lives, but they are usually treated as waste when they have to come down. The Urbanwood project recovers wood from urban trees and turns them into art and functional furniture.

Aaron Draplin

11:00, 1:30 and 4:30

Go behind the scenes with Detroit-born graphic designer Aaron Draplin of the Draplin Design Co. for a spirited walk through a wild array of projects and products — both big and small — from the front lines of graphic design. All makers and DIYers to create technologies that will better benefit humanity.

Efficiency

10:00–6:00

The Henry Ford's @Efficiency is a unique, hands-on, high-energy exhibit that lets guests explore topics such as conservation, energy use and efficiency in ways that make learning fun and engaging. Visitors are encouraged to think about the ways they use electricity and water in their own homes or workplaces. The exhibit is one of only a few of its kind in the nation.

PARKING

11:00 and 12:30

Parking at the Henry Ford is available for $12 per vehicle in all lots. Additional parking is available across the street for $5 per vehicle.

DRIVE-IN THEATER TALKS

Futurist Tom Malloy

1:00

What does it take to have a healthy urban environment with humans and animals sharing space? Representatives of organizations invested in Detroit’s agricultural renaissance share perspectives on policy and programs that encourage creativity and, most importantly, having fun! Each drawing session is interactive with hands-on making for social good.

Why You Should Strive to Be Lazy, Egotistical and Not Particularly Smart

Sarah Hodson

We live in an age where the knowledge of the world is at our fingertips, yet more and more people lack the hands-on skills to create something from scratch. This talk will focus on ways in which we can get hands-on and engage in real-world projects.

Why We Should Address the Legacy, Eugenical and Not Particularly Human

Sarah Hodson

We do things that are great, but we do not necessarily ensure that they benefit our open society properly and, more importantly, the community as a whole.
